

The Portuguese Cricket Federation has struggled over the last decade in getting involved in promoting cricket in Portuguese schools. Some success has been achieved in the International Schools, only to find the enthusiasm being short lived as students move from country to country. Access to Portuguese schools needs to come from the Department of Education, which to date has been unresponsive to any requests in this regard.

The above table lists the names of the students who attended the course, along with the number of hours they spent in the classroom. The table is organized by the number of hours spent in the classroom, with the most hours at the top and the least at the bottom. The table is organized by the number of hours spent in the classroom, with the most hours at the top and the least at the bottom.

Explain the importance of the following activities in the context of the course and the university's mission. (10 marks)